While Africa has one of the highest levels of racial or ethnic discrimination in the world, the rights of these communities are often ignored and undervalued — as they are in other areas of the world. In particular, they face challenges from violence, economic marginalization and lack of access to adequate healthcare.. But on Friday, U.S. House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) and Sen. Al Franken (D-Minn.) joined an effort by Democrats on Capitol Hill to block the FCC's proposal. The FCC and the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) have already scheduled a vote on the net neutrality proposal for January 28th. However, the FCC has been in constant battle with conservative members of Congress, who say the internet should be regulated differently if it threatens the Internet for "common carriers.".
